Fresh Easter Blouses, $5

New, fresh, dainty—one hundred stylish Blouses just received. There are dozens of different styles to choose from. We can understand how it is that Paris has gone "Blouze Crazy." These are the prettiest Blouses we have ever offered at the price.

Some of Imported Georgette Crepe, others of Flowered Crepe de Chine, Crepe or Chiffon Cloth, trimmed with organdie and embroidered cream-colored batiste flat collar and vestee. A few of Silk Shadow Lace.

Others with the fashionable Easter Lily and Gladstone Collar effects.

Petticoats--A Sale $3.95 and $4.95

The new Parisian fashion of having the petticoat show below the frock at the back is really charming, particularly when the petticoat is as pretty as these.

Of crepe de chine, with narrow accordion-pleated ruffle, stitched seams, and cut for a demi close fit. In all colors at $3.95.

Petticoats of silk jersey, with narrow pleated flounce and drop of jersey and dust ruffle of mesaline. These are very close fitting, and suitable for afternoon or evening wear. In all colors, $4.95.

Copies of Paris Suits--Specially Priced

We have specially marked three of our exclusive models to assist the woman who has waited until this late day to make her Easter Suit selection. Our work-rooms are over-taxed now; but, so that no one will be disappointed, we have added seven new members to our alteration staff.

The Easter Suit at $25.00

This is a $35.00 value. Of serge, poplin or checks, with smart loose-fitting coat, which has butterfly sleeves, trimmed in black moire. The Skirt has the very newest long tunic effect.

The Silk Suit at $25.00

This is of Silk Faille, with drop shoulder and flare bottom short jacket, to correspond to the stylishly cut skirt with double tunic effect.

The Silk Suit at $55.00

This is a reproduction of one of the most successful Premet models, alike in material, color and workmanship. The original inspiration was priced at $175.00. Of silk poplin, trimmed with changeable taffeta and hand embroidery. The skirt has the new Russian tunic effect.

Scott-Buccannon.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Victoria, B. C., April 8.—A pretty wedding was held here to-day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Buccannon, when their daughter, Miss Mary, was united in marriage to Captain W. M. Scott, a conductor on the Virginian Railway. The wedding was performed by Rev. S. S. Robinson, of the Baptist Church. In the presence of a few relatives and friends, Captain and Mrs. Scott took the 8:30 train for a visit to Florida and other points, after which they will return here and make their home.

CARLYLE HOUSE TO BE PRESERVED

Historic Building in Alexandria Will Be Converted Into Museum.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Alexandria, Va., April 8.—The Carlyle House, one of the most historic buildings in the United States, was sold to-day, together with a large portion of the old Braddock House, which stands in front of the Carlyle House. The Braddock House will be torn down at once, that is, most of it, and the Carlyle House will be converted into a historic museum as a sightseeing place for the thousands of tourists who annually visit Mount Vernon.

The purchaser is Robert S. Barrett, editor of the Alexandria Gazette, who has organized a corporation to take over the property. The building was purchased from the Warce Land Company of Washington. The purchase price was $15,000. The transaction covers ninety-two feet on Fairfax Street, running back to Lee Street, a distance of 310 feet, where there is also a frontage of ninety-two feet.

The Wager Company retains the original part of the Braddock House, at the southeast corner of Fairfax and Cameron Streets. It will within a short time be remodeled into a hotel of fifty rooms. H. B. Wager, vice-president of the company, announced to-day that plans had already been prepared for the building. The cost of remodeling will be about $25,000.

It is the intention of Mr. Barrett and his associates to restore the Carlyle House and grounds. All of the historic events that took place in the building will be reproduced in wax works, similar to the exhibits seen at the Eden Museum, in New York, and Madame Tussauds, in London.

Among the events to be reproduced are the conference of the five Colonial Governors, Dinwiddie, Benjamin Franklin, Sharpe, Delaney and Morris, in 1775, when General Braddock and George Washington appeared before them, and discussed the scheme for colonial taxation which brought on the Revolution some years later; George Washington receiving his commission in the Colonial army; Washington's first sweetheart, to whom he proposed in the Carlyle house; the reception to the Marquis de Lafayette, and representation of famous Americans who visited the house in Colonial times.

In the basement of the building will be reproduced in wax historic scenes that took place in other locations in Alexandria, among them being the killing of Eliza Smith by Jackson at the outbreak of the Civil War, which occurred at the Marshall House; General Robert E. Lee deciding to resign his commission in the United States Army and a number of other interesting events connected with the history of the city.

In the dungeons, the old fort upon which the building now stands, will be installed what will be known as a "Chamber of Horrors."

With the demolition of the greater portion of the old Braddock House the Carlyle House will be chartered and its view will be entirely unobstructed.

An iron bridge will be constructed for the tourists to the place, and surrounding it will be a lawn, which will add to its attractiveness. The Carlyle House was built by John Carlyle in 1745. He came over as collector of customs under the crown and settled at Dumfries, in the old Colonial days. He married Sarah Fairfax, a daughter of William Fairfax, of Belair, and was one of the original trustees named in the charter of the city of Alexandria. At the solicitation of General Washington and William Fairfax, he was appointed by Governor Dinwiddie, of Virginia, major and quartermaster during the French and Indian War, and while acting as such entertained Governors Dinwiddie, Sharpe, Delaney, Morris and General Braddock, whose disastrous campaign and death has passed into history.

STUDENTS JOIN HUNT FOR THIEVES

Hope to Put End to Series of Burglaries in University of Virginia Community.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Charlottesville, Va., April 8.—For the purpose of putting an end to the series of burglaries from which the University of Virginia community has suffered, a number of students have organized a "Vigilance Committee." The following men, most of whom have been appointed by Judge John W. Fishburne, of the Circuit Court, as special police for Albemarle County, comprise the committee at present: Harry Varner, assistant football coach; Pichegu Woolfolk, captain of next fall's football eleven; M. S. Fitchett, member of last year's baseball team; Willie Cooke, ex-captain of the track team; T. H. Todd, P. H. Bailey, W. A. Jones, J. S. Graves, John B. Jenkins, E. W. Smith, Jr., George B. Eager, Jr., Sidney Davis, Nelson Harris, Bernard Meredith, Jesse Ford, J. C. Lamb, W. H. Whitmore and Dr. J. A. Waddell.

The objects of the committee are to raise by subscription from the students, faculty and members of the community a large sum of money to be used in employing expert detectives and in obtaining bloodhounds to use in tracking the criminals; to ask the co-operation of the community in detecting the burglars by reporting any possible clue, and to promulgate rules which will require the procurement of a license badge by such persons as are servants within the University, and to arrest or prosecute those who have no business in the neighborhood.

NORFOLK MAN KILLED.

His Motorcycle Car Is Struck by Automobile on Boulevard Near Pine Beach.

Norfolk, Va., April 8.—His skull fractured and one side of his face torn almost completely away, Sidney Hugh Whitehurst, Jr., of 1195 Granby Street, died this morning in an automobile on his way from Pine Beach. He was struck by an automobile on his way from Pine Beach last night and did not regain consciousness until this morning. The owner of the automobile which he was riding in, a motorcycle car on the Boulevard near Pine Beach, and was over taken by an automobile which struck the car, wheels of the cycle, throwing it in front of the car.

BRISTOL PUTS OUT REAL FISH STORY

Talks About Devil-Fish and Whales Just as if It Were Seaport.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., April 8.—Bristolians who spent the winter months on Captiva Island, off the Gulf coast, in Southern Florida, and who will remain there until May, had their coveted luck a few days ago, when, after fishing for several seasons, they landed their first devilfish. It was a mammoth affair, being sixteen feet in length, and weighing 2,000 pounds. It was caught on a large steel hook, suspended from a chain, the chain being attached to a derrick rope, which was anchored securely.

When the monster got on the hook he made a desperate effort to escape, throwing the water high in the air. The struggle was continued for some time before the fishermen finally brought their game to shore. During the struggle, everybody in the village gathered along the beach, and it required about fifty men to overcome the fish and pull it onto the shore. Its fins, or massive arms, extended five feet each way on opposite sides of the body.

The Bristol fishermen had captured several sharks, some of which were from ten to twelve feet in length. They were naturally anxious to get something larger and more terrible than the ordinary shark. The devilfish was captured in waters that are teeming with sharks, and whose black backs are seen bobbing up as far as the eye can discern.

The luck of the Bristol fishermen recalls a time fifteen years ago, as related by Mrs. Hallie Matthews, who conducts a hotel on Sanibel Island, near Captiva, when the island held sixty dead whales. The carcasses of these whales were washed ashore one night during a hurricane that swept the Gulf from the south. How the whales happened to be dead has never been explained. It required several weeks to cut their bodies into pieces and drag them off the beach. A heap of bones remains on the island as proof of the truth of the story.

RICH FIND OF OIL IN SCOTT COUNTY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Gate City, Va., April 8.—Mr. Libby, working for the Southern Railway Company, has been engaged for several months in boring for oil at Yuma, Scott County, seven miles southwest of Gate City. At a depth of about 1,100 feet he apparently has struck it rich. He says that the work will be pushed vigorously and will require the services of 500 men.

The rich, dark fluid he has struck seems to be in abundance. For several years it has been believed there was oil there. Just after the war a well was started, but the company failed and suspended operations before it had gone down 200 feet.

The section in which the oil was discovered is pierced by a branch line of the Southern, the Holston River Ohio Railway also passes through it. This makes the shipping facilities excellent.

It is understood that Mr. Libby will bore other wells in the vicinity of Yuma. The price of real estate in that section has already sprung to a high figure.

STOP Coffee Drinkers, And Think a Minute!

Some persons seem able, for a time at least, to get along with coffee, but it contains a subtle, habit-forming drug, caffeine, which sooner or later is pretty sure to rob one of health and comfort.

If you know coffee don't harm you—if you feel prime and fit under its continued use, well and good—stick to it.

But—if you are sometimes a bit "off color," and irritable nerves, disturbed heart action, biliousness, headache, or symptoms of liver or kidney trouble make you wonder what's the matter—

Better find out what coffee has to do with it.

Evidently some people are learning the truth about coffee—listen—

During 1913 the sales of coffee in this country decreased over one hundred million pounds.

A mighty army of former coffee drinkers now use and enjoy freedom from their old coffee aches and pains.

Postum, made of whole wheat and a bit of molasses, is a delicious table beverage absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin.

If you are interested in bettering yourself—think it over!

Postum now comes in two forms.

Regular Postum—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.
